the fair - est lass, will it be,

trod on grass and thus be - gan his song.
nymph, for thee, if I for sor - - row die?
lass that trod on grass and thus be - gan his song.
be, sweet nymph, for thee, if I for sor - - row die?
trod on grass and thus be - - gan his song.
nymph, for if I for sor - - row die?
that sweet trod on grass and if thus be - - gan his song.
nymph, for thee, if I for sor - - row die?

Re-store, re-store my heart a - gain which love by thy sweet looks hath slain.

Re-store, re-store my heart a - gain which love by thy sweet looks hath slain.

Re-store, re-store my heart a - gain which love by thy sweet, sweet looks hath slain.

Re-store, re-store my heart a - gain which love by thy sweet looks hath slain.

Lest that en - forc'd by your dis - dain, I sing: Fie, fie on by your dis-dain, I sing: Fie, fie

Lest that en - forc'd, en-forc'd by your disdain, by your dis - dain, I sing: Fie, —

Lest that en-forc'd by your dis-dain, I sing: Fie, fie on love, love, fie, fie on love, it is a fool - ish thing.

on love, fie, fie on love, fie, it is a fool - ish thing.

fie on love, fie, fie on love, it is a fool-ish thing.

fie, fie on love, fie, it is a foolish — thing.

2. My heart where have you laid, / o cruel maid, / to kill when you might save? / Why have ye cast it forth / as nothing worth, / without a tomb or grave? / O, let it be entomb'd, and lie / in your sweet mind and memory, / lest I resound on every warbling string: / Fie, fie on love, that is a foolish thing.
